HISTORY

The History of San Ramon

A Community Begins. Today, San Ramon is a dynamic young city, one of California's new outstanding urban villages. It has a variety of homes and shops and a major employment center - all in a setting of remarkable beauty. It was once home to Seunen Indians, Costanoans who lived adjacent to the Valley creeks and traded with other Bay Area tribes. In the 1800's it was Mission San Jose grazing land, later becoming part of Jose Maria Amador's enormous rancho San Ramon. San Ramon Creek was named after a vaquero, Ramon, who tended Mission sheep here and who was later an Indian alcalde at Mission San Jose. Don Jose Maria Amador, in a land title case in 1855, explained that "San" was added to the creek's name to conform with Spanish custom. American settlers came to San Ramon in 1850, when Leo Norris purchased 4,450 acres from Don Amador. He and his partner William Lynch built the first frame house (made of redwoods from Oakland) and planted the first barley crop. In 1852 Joel and Minerva Fowler Harlan built their first home on today's county line; James Dougherty bought 10,000 acres from Amador; and Major Samuel Russell settled on 600 acres near Norris Canyon. Many of the people who founded San Ramon are remembered today because their names grace various canyons, hills and streets. Some of these pioneers were Norris, Lynch, Harlan, McCamley, Crow, Cox, Bollinger, Fereira, Boone, Meese, Glass and Wiedemann. Several houses still survive as prideful reminders of these first families: the Glass house (1860) and Harlan house (1858) stand just west of San Ramon Valley Boulevard and the Wiedemann house (1865) is in Norris Canyon. Initially the Americans called the area Brevensville, Lynchville and Limerick, after early settlers Eli Breven, William Lynch and the large Irish population. The first village developed adjacent to San Ramon Creek at the intersection of Old Crow Canyon Road and San Ramon Valley Boulevard. When a permanent post office was established in 1873, it was called San Ramon.

A Village Develops. In the decade of the 1860's, the village of San Ramon became a hub of community activity. In 1864 a stage line established by Brown and Co. ran from San Ramon through the Valley to Oakland. A Catholic church was dedicated in 1860, the general store (which was the post and stage office) was built in 1863, and students left their home-based classrooms to attend the new San Ramon Grammar School in 1867. Saloons, a jail, Chinese laundries and blacksmith shops also lined County Road No. 2 which later became Highway 21 and then San Ramon Valley Boulevard.

Modern San Ramon. As with the entire Valley, agriculture was the basis for San Ramon's economy until the 1960's when the new state highway, I-680, was completed. Developers Ken Volk and Bob McClain built the first suburban homes at the County line: "Country quiet, City close" was their radio theme song. A special district, the Valley Community Services District (VCSD) provided urban services for these new homes, including parks, sewer, water, fire protection and garbage collection.

"San Ramon Village" appeared as a separate census designation for the first time in 1970 with a count of 4,084 people, part of the San Ramon Valley population of 25,899. San Ramon had 12,782 people in 1975, 22,356 people in 1980, and 44,722 people in 2000.

DEMOGRAPHICS

The City of San Ramon is located in Contra Costa County on 11 square miles of the San Ramon Valley, approximately 25 miles east of the City of Oakland in the San Francisco Bay Area. The San Ramon Valley has long been considered one of the most desirable living areas in the Bay Area because of its scenic beauty, good climate, suburban charm, and proximity to the Bay Area's major employment centers. San Ramon is at the heart of the valley and is surrounded by the prosperous communities of Alamo, Blackhawk, Danville, and Diablo.

Crow Canyon Gardens is a public park owned by the City of San Ramon. The gardens were first planted in May, 1978 and were initially created as a source for fresh herbs, fruits and vegetables for Mudd's Restaurant (located adjacent to the garden).

Today, through the demonstration kitchen garden, group tour program, classes, and community gardens, the Garden serves the local community as an environmental education and to promote the ideals of land stewardship, ecological responsibility, and small-scale biological agriculture.

Forest Home Farms Historic Park

(925) 973-3281

19953 San Ramon Valley Blvd

In 1997, Ruth Quayle Boone bequeathed the 16-acre Boone family farm known as Forest Home Farms to the City of San Ramon for use as a municipal historic park in memory of her husband, Travis Moore Boone. This historic site is on the National Register of Historic Places. It is home to 21 structures including the Boone House (built in 1900) and the David Glass House (built in 1877)

San Ramon Community Center & Central Park

FUN STUFF FOR KIDS

The City of San Ramon

www.ci.san-ramon.ca.us

The City of San Ramon offers a variety of fun stuff for kids and their families such as sports, language classes, theater, crafts, festivals and family events. Would you like Santa to knock on your door and listen to your kids wishes in your own living room or would you like to travel back in time and participate in an old-fashioned holiday party at the Forest Home Farm? Why not sign up for a Parent & Child Art class or have your child learn Tae Kwon Do, take piano lessons or let him express himself through the amazing world of ceramics. The City of San Ramon has something that fits for everyone.

Iron Horse Mothers Club

(925) 927-2444

The Iron Horse Mothers Club is a social and support group that was formed to provide a nurturing community for mothers and their children, ages birth through five years. The IHMC is a support network for its members. Many moms join the mother's club in order to find a playgroup for their child/children; however, the mother's club has much more to offer. IHMC plan many different activities throughout the year for kids, moms and kids, and the whole family.

San Ramon Olympic Pool and Aquatic Park

(925) 973-3240

The facility holds three pools: one for small children, with water sprayers and slides, a second for larger kids and a third Olympic sized pool with swim lanes and a large slide and diving boards. Some well shaded areas around the area allow for picnics. Lots of fun in the sun.

The Golden Skate

(925) 820-2525

2701 Hooper Drive

The Golden Skate is a full-service inline and quad skating rink for kids of all ages. The Golden Skate offers daily open skate sessions, lessons, a hockey program and more.
